PREFACE

This Directory of Lewisburg, West Lewisburg, and the adjacent territory covered by four Rural Delivery Routes, together presents in compact form and extraordinary completeness many things the public should know about postal affairs but have no means of learning except by inquiring of their postmaster, whose answers must frequently be hurriedly given, perhaps unsatisfactory even unto himself, and the information thus obtained is liable to be forgotten, confused or misconstrued the next time needed.

To remedy this apparent evil, by attempting to answer in concise form, the questions most frequently asked at the office windows, pointing out the errors commonly made by otherwise well informed people and suggesting how to avoid them, the Directory ever published of this little West Lewisburg and all surrounding territory, is the principal mission of this little booklet, and if the contents shall give to those who possess a copy, through the courtesy of their postmaster, a better understanding and higher appreciation of the postal service, and residential addresses of all those who reside in Lewisburg, West Lewisburg and along four rural routes, it will not have been prepared in vain.

This booklet is designed to be a thorough reliable and strictly up-to-date reference book which will be found equally useful in the school, the office and the home. In addition to the vast amount of postal information there will be found the name and address of every person in Lewisburg, West Lewisburg, Rural Routes 1, 2, 3 and Milton No. 4, from the head of a family down to those of ten and fifteen years of age, in alphabetical order, the greatest care being exercised that not a single individual be omitted.

W. E. HOUSEL.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

By always having your money ready when buying stamps you will save valuable time for yourself, the busy post office clerks and others who may be in waiting.

Box holders should always inform their correspondents the number of their box and have it incorporated in their address. This is especially important for the younger members of the family and the ladies, whose names are not so familiar to the post office as is that of the head of the family.

When transacting business at any of the windows true gentlemen will refrain from smoking, but if you must smoke, do not blow it into the face of the clerks or others waiting. It is not only very ill-mannerly but decidedly annoying to any self-respecting individual to take second-hand smoke.

Do not stand at the post office windows to write or wrap up packages, when there is a desk provided for such purposes, as it is almost sure to inconvenience some other patron whose time is as valuable to them as yours is to you.

Post Cards with tinsel on are unmailable unless enclosed in envelopes and are sent direct to the Dead Letter Office.

Post Cards in envelopes must have the stamp attached to the envelope instead of the card; no matter if the envelope is of thin paper or has a hole in it. Put your stamps on the envelope if you want it to go.

Post Cards bearing particles of mica, glass, tinsel, sand or other similar substance are unmailable, except when enclosed in tightly sealed envelopes.

THE GENERAL DELIVERY.

The general delivery window of the post office, for the accommodation of those who, for various reasons, do not rent boxes, transient patrons and the traveling public, is one of the most exacting, and frequently one of the most exasperating, nerve-riving positions in the world, the proper filling of which is rarely, if ever, appreciated as it should be. Through it may be seen more traits of human character, odd, angular and otherwise, than any place on earth, for its frequenters include all classes of people to a degree not met with elsewhere. None are too great nor too lowly to approach its portals in quest of mail, many through an almost positive knowledge that it will be there; others apparently inspired by a hope that some one has written or sent them something, while some call seemingly through force of habit, rarely missing a mail or receiving as much as a postal card.

Persons changing their residence should invariably notify their postmaster, and if the change be only temporary, they should state for how long the forwarding order is effective, otherwise it is considered perpetual. In cities having free mail delivery be particular to give street and number of both old and new address.

Patrons of this very necessary department of all post offices will no doubt merit the lasting esteem of the persons in charge, and possibly secure more satisfactory service by kindly observing the following suggestions:

Upon calling at the general delivery, always pronounce your name, in the best voice that God has given you, for such purposes, no matter how well you may think you are known to the postmaster or his clerks. Did you ever meet a person whom you knew perfectly, yet could not instantly speak his name? Besides this, the change of a hat or garment, or the reflection of a light may so change one's appearance as to render instant recognition quite difficult.

If in a strange place, always pronounce your name and spell it, or at least the first syllable. By this means you are not nearly so apt to be misunderstood in the confusion usually incident to mail time. Many names sound very much alike, though spelled quite differently, and this precaution should never be neglected. Never merely ask, is there anything for "me," "us," or "our folks?" but give the name.

If you have reason to expect mail that is not given you, state your case in a gentlemanly or ladylike manner as briefly as possible, and the matter will be cheerfully investigated, but if some one has merely neglected to write you, or failed to answer a letter, just remember that postmasters and their clerks probably have similar troubles of their own.

When you have been waited upon, always step aside as soon as you can, lest some one be waiting, unobserved, behind you, for mail as important as your own.

THE REGISTRY SYSTEM.

Hereafter when a person sends a registered letter or parcel he will not get a return receipt card, unless such matter bears the endorsement "Receipt desired," or words of similar import.

Any article of valuable matter may be registered at any post office in the United States for a fee of 10 cents in addition to the regular postage of its class, all of which must be prepaid in full with stamps affixed by the sender, whose name and address must be printed or written upon the envelope or wrapper before it will be received for registration.

The question is frequently asked, "Which is the safer way to send money, by registered letter or a money order?" The answer is, a money order, of course. While not one registered letter in a million is lost, the situation is simply this: Suppose you send a registered letter containing $100 and the train should be wrecked or a post office be destroyed by fire with your letter, you would receive $50 if you could prove there was that much in it, while had you sent a money order, though the issuing and paying office both be swept from the face of the earth, the $100 would still be paid, for it is certainly itself.

The registry system should be employed for valuable papers and packages between all offices, and for currency where impossible to obtain a money order. Registered matter is never dispatched on night trains over lines where mail is carried in the day time, always by the most secure route, and must be recorded in every post office and postal car through which it passes, so that where changes are necessary, registered matter rarely makes as good time as ordinary mail, speed being sacrificed to security.

Postmasters nor their clerks are not allowed to address, seal or put the stamps upon anything intended to be registered. This must be done by the sender or some one of them who is in no way connected with the post office.

CIRCULARS DEFINED.

A circular is defined by the postal laws as "a printed letter which, according to internal evidence, is being sent in identical terms to several persons" and does not lose its character as such by having the date on which it is sent the name of the addressee or that of the sender, written or stamped thereon, but the writing or stamping of a name, date, place or anything else to complete its sense, renders it subject to first class postage. Invitations, announcements and the like may have the name of the addressee upon the inner as well as the outside envelope or a printed or written card enclosed with the name of sender only.

Unsealed circulars, to be entitled to pass as such, must be presented at the post office window, (not mailed in the letter box,) in the aggregate of at least twenty identical copies.

THE MONEY ORDER SYSTEM.

The Money Order System of the Post Office Department is one of the finest forms of remittance ever devised, insuring as it does absolute safety at small cost. By it hundreds of millions of dollars are annually transported through the mails, without the loss of a penny to the public. Orders are issued and paid at more than 35,000 offices in the United States.

RATES ON DOMESTIC MONEY ORDERS.

20.01 to 30.00...	12 cts	75.01 to 100.00...	30 cts

Rural Delivery Carriers are authorized to accept and receipt for cash for money orders, to be enclosed in unsealed letters committed to their care, or to be delivered next trip.

One Hundred Dollars is the largest amount for which a money order can be written, but there is no longer any limit to the number of orders that may be drawn at the same time upon any office above the fourth class. Upon offices of the fourth class the aggregate should not exceed $300.

The postmaster at any money order office can show you a list of all others. If the place to which you wish to send a remittance should not be a money order office, the order may be drawn upon some nearby town that is, and sent to the payee at his regular address. In this manner the patron of any of the more than 76,000 post offices may be safely reached.

Orders may now be drawn upon the office where issued, payable to any other patron thereof, so that if Mr. Jones, living north of town, wishes to send a sum of money to Mr. Smith, living south of town, he may do so through the money order system. This is a new feature of the service, and should be appreciated.

Money orders are recorded where issued, at the office drawn upon, and in the Department at Washington, and may be readily traced at any time. If lost, stolen or destroyed, duplicates may be obtained without expense, difficulty or delay, by applying to either the issuing or paying postmaster. They are payable only at the office of issue or the one drawn upon, but may be endorsed once and exchanged or deposited the same as a check or draft. A careful reading of the blank form on the back of an order will enable anyone to properly endorse it. The name of the person to whom paid must be signed upon the face of the order at time of payment.

FOREIGN MONEY ORDERS.

International Orders are issued at several thousand offices, payable in any country in the civilized world, the fees being one per cent., adjusted by tens, as $10 or under, 10 cts; $90 to $100 being $1, though to some countries the maximum amount is $50 for any one order, but there is no limit to the number of foreign orders that may be drawn at the same time.

SPECIAL DELIVERY BUSINESS.

A special stamp, of the denomination of ten (10) cents may be procured at any post office, which, when attached to a letter or other article of mailable matter; in addition to the regular postage thereon according to its class, will insure the special and prompt delivery of the same, within the delivery limit of any post office having free delivery from 6 a. m. to 11 p. m., and within one mile of all other post offices in the United States, from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m., or the arrival of the last mail for the day.

Special delivery stamps are not good for postage, nor will two or more special delivery stamps secure delivery beyond the carrier or one mile limit. Letters containing only the special delivery stamp (a very common error of persons using them) will be forwarded and specially delivered, the deficiency to be collected of addressee, but all other than first class matter, with only the special stamp will be treated as wholly unpaid and addressee notified to remit postage, as required by law, upon receipt of which it becomes special delivery matter, and has the right of way over everything else.

Special delivery matter must be delivered on holidays and Sundays the same as other days. At the larger offices special deliveries are made during certain hours of Sunday.

If, for any reason, special delivery stamps are not available, ordinary stamps can be used to the amount of ten cents. Then write "Special Delivery" on the envelope.

POSTAGE DUE.

It is a good rule to always see that the postage on mail matter deposited by you is fully paid. While all matter of the first class will be forwarded if it bears as much as one 2 cent stamp and weighs less than four pounds, all such matter is liable to delay at the office where mailed and to which address; at the former for rating up, at the latter for collection, as no postage due letters are ever placed in your box, except by mistake, but instead a notice to call at stamp window for the same. The delay of a minute may cause a letter to miss an important connection that will lay it out 24 hours or more.

USE A RETURN CARD.

Never mail anything without your own name and address upon it, as well as that of the person for whom it is intended. A request for its return within a given time, not less than three days nor more than three months, will be complied with on everything fully paid at the first class rate. If not so paid, you will be notified of its non-delivery and the amount necessary for returning or sending to a new address. While a request to return in less than three days cannot be regarded, a request to forward to another post office if not called for in one day, or by a given time, will be promptly complied with.

RURAL DELIVERY RULES.

Rural Carriers are now required, empowered and authorized to administer any and all oaths to be made by pensioners and their witnesses, in the execution of their vouchers with like effect and force as officers having a seal; and they are authorized to charge and receive for each voucher not exceeding twenty-five cents, to be paid by the pensioner.

More than one family may use the same rural mail box; Provided, That written notice of such with the postmaster at the distributing post office. Guests and servants may also receive mail addressed in care of a patron of Rural Free Delivery.

Rural carriers must not solicit business or receive orders of any kind for any person, firm or corporation, and shall not, during their hours of employment, carry any merchandise for hire except for and upon the request of patrons residing upon their respective routes, whenever the same shall not interfere with the proper discharge of their official duties.

Letters or other mail matter addressed to other parties on the same route will be delivered the same day mailed, if between the point of mailing and the post office from which the route starts, and next trip if to a person between post office and mailing point.

Rural carriers are supplied with stamps, envelopes, postal cards, etc. They will also register your letters, or receive your applications for money orders and money for the same, the order to be delivered to you next day, or enclosed in your letter and forwarded as you may desire, giving you the receipt next day.

By order of Post Office Department the "drop letter," or 1c. rates of postage will not apply within rural delivery limit, the 2c. per ounce rate must be exacted upon all first class matter except postal card. The introduction of rural free delivery does not increase the present rate of postage on second, third and fourth class matter, including unsentled circulars, entitled to pass as such.

Persons supplied by rural free delivery should not neglect to inform their correspondents of the number of their respective routes. They should also have all newspapers and other mail matter addressed to route and box number, for illustration, "John Jones, Rural Route No. 1, Box 22, Lewisburg, Penna.," never neglecting to put on the name of the town from which the route is supplied as routes are numbered from one upward at each place having this service.

The First Assistant Postmaster General has ordered that patrons of the rural route service must put up boxes that are approved by the department.

The U. S. mail should not be deposited in any hut an appropriate receptacle, properly labeled and protected. Watch the carrier and see what time he arrives at your house every day. The time will vary but little from one day to another. Get your mail as soon as possible after he leaves it.

CONCERNING POST OFFICE BOXES.

Next to subscribing and paying for your home paper regularly, maintaining a box in your local post office is a means of education and satisfaction that should not be neglected. There are, at almost every post office, people whose small bills for box rent amount to more than their annual expenditure for postage, but they realize more enjoyment therefrom than any other investment of a like sum, while on the other hand there are many who spend more in valuable time awaiting their turn at the general delivery after each mail than would pay the rental of a box four times over, and erroneously imagine that they are practicing economy.

The possession of a box at the post office gives to each member of the household an air of independence and self respect wholly unknown to those who take their turn at the general delivery window.

Besides the convenience of having a box, it also carries with it other advantages, as one's correspondents should be informed of the box number, that it may be incorporated in their address. While mail matter cannot lawfully be delivered where initials only are used, it may be addressed or marked to return to a box number, and the address is lawful.

The use of a box is restricted to the members of one family, firm or corporation, including employees (with consent of employers,) visitors, and such mail as may be addressed in care of the box number. Students of colleges or inmates of any public institution may have their mail deposited in the box thereof, when such is the rule of the same, but regular boarders at hotels or elsewhere are not considered as members of the family, though transient guests may have their mail sent in care of a hotel, and it will be placed in the box thereof.

Boxes are not rented for more than three months at a time, nor beyond the end of the current quarter, the rate being prorated for fractional quarters. Box rents form a very important part of the postal revenues, and should be promptly and cheerfully paid. Postmasters are instructed that when box rents are not paid by the first day of the first month in each quarter, to put their mail in the general delivery and return the box to the first person applying for it. Being chargeable with all uncollected rents on boxes used, it is not to be wondered at that postmasters should be so persistent in having it paid.

Persons who habitually and persistently leave their post office boxes unlocked have no moral right to complain if they lose valuable mail thereby. A strict compliance with the law would require postmasters to place the mail of all such parties in the general delivery until they agree to keep their boxes locked.

STAMPED ENVELOPES AND WRAPPERS. PRICES AND ADVANTAGE.

Post Office patrons will find it greatly to their interest to use the stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers, as a matter of economy, as well as a safeguard against the common error of mailing letters without postage, besides saving the time and labor of affixing the stamps, which is quite a task when done in large quantities.

Stamped envelopes are made in all of the standard sizes, and of the best quality of paper, with stamp of the value of 1c, 2c, 4c, and 5c, on each, and are sold at from 1c per single envelope to from 3 cents to 5 cents per bunch of 25, in addition to the value of the stamps thereon, according to denomination. Take for example the commercial size, 3½x6. 5-10, first grade 2-cent envelopes which are sold as follows: 1 for 3c.; 8 for 17c.; 25 for 54c.; 50 for $1.07; 100 for $2.13; 250 for $5.31; 500 for $10.62; 1,000 for $21.24. Smaller sizes are sold at the same price as above; larger sizes at a slight advance, not exceeding 11 cents for 5, 55 cents per package of 25, or $22 per 1,000. When ordered in quantities of 500 or upward, the department will, if desired, print free of additional charge, the name and address of the purchaser, with a request for return if not delivered within a given time, or the number of days will be left blank if so ordered, but all reference to the business or occupation of purchaser will be excluded, and no change will be made in the form or style of type. However, such envelopes may be purchased blank for your local printer to place any engraving, design or unobjectionable advertising thereon, you wish, making a most desirable envelope, fully as cheap as the same grade can be bought in like quantities, and yet your stamps already "stuck."

Stamped envelopes or wrappers spoiled in printing or addressing are redeemable at their postage value in other postage, upon returning them in a whole condition to the same office. This fact should remove the most frequently expressed objection to having stamped envelopes. More purchases of ordinary stamps are made in lots of five—10 cents worth—than any other. Why not put a penny with it and get five stamped envelopes for eleven cents, thus doing away with the danger of losing, soiling or getting your stamps stuck where they do not belong? These envelopes bought either singly or in bulk may be had at all post offices either plain or with a printed return card having blank line for inscribing name of the purchaser, which should always be done before mailing, a precaution against possible loss or delay, the value of which can not be overestimated by the public. Always call for "special request" envelopes.

LETTERS UNDER COVER.

Neither will the Post Office Department knowingly be a party to any form of deception, and the person who makes false promises by mail is frequently standing in the shadow of the prison.

It is a common practice of fickle men and women, wishing to fool their lord or spouse, to write a letter, dated at some far away place, and enclose it to the postmaster with a request to send it from there, probably smiling in their sleeves at how nicely they have fooled their tootsywootsy, confident that none are quite so smooth as he (or she.)

Postmasters are required to forward such letters, but not until after they have endorsed them, in substance: "Received under cover from _____, for postmark at _____." If the wrath usually displayed by the recipients of such decoy duck letters is conveyed to the writers, they are not likely to indulge in such cuteness a second time.

LIMIT OF WEIGHT AND DIMENSIONS.

While there is no limit to the weight of first and second class matter, when properly prepared for mailing and fully paid according to its class, third and fourth class matter is limited to four pounds, except in case of single books, but there is absolutely no limit to the length, breadth or depth of anything offered for mailing of the first or second class. Four of the third or fourth class that does not exceed four pounds in weight, so nothing that is otherwise mailable can be excluded on account of its size and shape, except liquids in authorized mailing cases, which must not exceed four fluid ounces.

Queen Bees and the Australian Lady Bird, in their proper castles, are the only living creatures that can be mailed according to law.

There is no local or "drop" rate on other than first class matter, it costing as much to leave a package of papers, books or merchandise at the home post office of a patron thereof, as it does to send the same across the continent.

FORWARDING AND RETURNING MAIL.

All domestic mail matter of the first class may be forwarded to the original addressee and any number of times, or returned to sender without the payment of additional postage, but that of all other classes can only be returned or forwarded upon payment, in advance, of the original amount, for each time re-addressed. Mail matter from foreign countries may be forwarded without additional postage.

If, in mailing papers or packages that are likely to have to be forwarded or returned, the sender will affix stamps at the first-class rate, that is to say, 2 cents an ounce or fraction thereof, and so mark it that it may not be overlooked by those handling the same, they will be forwarded or returned like other first class matter, and thus save the addressee or sender the delay, inconvenience and expense of having to remit the necessary postage for forwarding or returning. This is a very important point and should not be overlooked.

PRIVATE MAILING CARDS.

Under act of May 19, 1898, private parties are authorized to issue their own "Private Mailing Cards," not exceeding in size those in common use, 3½ inches, of substantially the same quality, and any desired color, and may contain on the address side, in addition to the required inscription: "Private Mailing Card, Authorized by act of May 19, 1898," any engraving, printing or advertising that does not interfere with a perfectly plain address. Such cards, whether written or printed, will pass as first class matter through the domestic mails, including Canada and Mexico, when prepaid with a one-cent stamp. For other countries the rate is 2 cents each.

FOREIGN MAILS.

Commencing on the 1st day of October, 1908, the postage rate applicable to letters mailed in the United States, addressed for delivery at any place in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, shall be two (2) cents an ounce or fraction of an ounce.

Commencing January 1, 1909, the postage rate applicable to letters mailed in the United States for Germany and dispatched by sea direct and not via England or France shall be two cents an ounce or fraction thereof.

Letters unpaid or short paid shall be dispatched to their destination, but double the deficient postage, calculated at said rate, shall be collectible of the addressee upon the delivery of the unpaid or short paid letters.

Rates and conditions applicable to mail matter within the Universal Postal Union other than Great Britain and Ireland and Germany.

Letters—for the first ounce, 5 cents; for each succeeding ounce, 3 cents. Postal cards, 2 cents each. Letters addressed to any Postal Union Country will be forwarded though no stamps have been affixed, but double the deficiency will be collected upon delivery. The same rule applies to letters mailed in other countries and addressed to the United States.

Newspapers and Printed Matter, 1 cent for each 2 ounces or fraction thereof. Limit of weight 4 pounds 6 ounces. Packages of Printed Matter are limited in size to 18 inches in any one direction, except to Germany and Great Britain, where the limit is 2 feet, though rolls not more than 4 inches in diameter may be 30 inches long.

CANADA AND MEXICO.

All articles admissible to the mails of the United States, addressed to Canada or Mexico, will be transmitted at same rates and under same conditions as domestic matter, except that seeds, bulbs, plants, etc., for Canada must be prepaid at 1 cent per ounce, and that sealed packages, other than letters in their ordinary form, that cannot be readily examined to determine whether dutiable or not, will not be admitted, though prepaid at the full letter rate.

SECRECY OF THE MAIL SERVICE.

Section 549 of the Postal Laws and Regulations strictly forbids Postmasters and all others in the mail service from divulging any information concerning mail matter received or delivered, except to persons addressed, their authorized agents, or post office inspectors and officers of the law, in pursuit of criminals, when same can be done without interfering with other business.

This section is held to prohibit the furnishing of names, singly or in bulk, of persons receiving mail at the post office, so if you should feel inclined to write to the postmaster at Punxsutawney, Pa., or some other place, to inquire whether Henry Highflyer, or some other fellow or his sister gets mail there, it will be his duty to refer you to Sec. 549. The proper way to do is to address the fellow himself at his last known address, being sure to put your own address upon it with a request to return if not delivered within a given time (not less than 3 nor more than 90 days). If he or she has moved and left forwarding orders, it will be sent on. If dead or unknown, the letter will be returned to you with reason for non-delivery stated thereon.

In writing to a postmaster upon any subject involving a reply, never fail to enclose a stamp or postal card, as they can use the Department envelopes only on official business, and it would take a big slice of their salary to pay the postage on answers to questions of no concern to them, besides it is no part of the mission of the Post Office Department to locate runaway wives, missing husbands or wayward sons and daughters, or confiding maidens in learning of the whereabouts of recalcitrant lovers, though many of them think it is.

UNAVAILABLE MATTER.

Intoxicating liquors, (ardent, vinous, spirituous or malt,) poisons, explosive or inflammable articles, live or dead animals, (not stuffed,) insects and reptiles, (except queen bees and their attendant bees, the "Austrian Lady Bird," in their proper receptacles,) or articles exhaling a bad odor, all matters pertaining to lotteries, gift enterprises or games of chance, and all articles intended for indecent or immoral purposes, including all advertisements concerning the same, are absolutely unavailable in any form or quantity, or under any circumstances whatever, and anyone depositing such prohibited matter for transmission by mail is liable to severe penalties for each offense.

Liquids not included in the foregoing prohibited list, will be transmitted in the domestic mails, in quantities not exceeding four fluid ounces, when prepared according to the rules prescribed by the Post Office Department, which any Postmaster will exhibit to those having occasion to use the same, being too extended for publication in a work of this kind, and but few have occasion to use it.
